MILWAUKEE POLICE NAB ONE OF CITY'S MOST WANTED
Officers move working hours to capture felon

Good police work and creative scheduling helped Milwaukee Police capture DeAngelo Jones, one of "Milwaukee's Most Wanted" early Saturday morning November 18, 2006.

Sergeant Eric Pfeiffer and members of the District 5 Anti Gang Unit adjusted their work hours to locate the wanted suspect. Jones was wanted for Endangering Safety by Use of a Dangerous Weapon and Armed Robbery.

The Milwaukee Police Officers developed information that the suspect could be found in the 800 block of W. Galena. At 2 a.m. Saturday, the officers spotted Jones in the area where he jumped off a second-story balcony in an attempt to escape. Immediately after he jumped, officers arrested Jones without further incident.

Along with Sgt. Pfeiffer, the officers who made the arrest were Police Officers Shaun Burger, Kurt Lacina and Eric Draeger. In addition to the two felony warrants, Jones' arrest clears five municipal warrants.

"This is the kind of police work we want the residents of the City of Milwaukee to know is going on all over the city, 24 hours a day," said Milwaukee Police Chief Nannette Hegerty in commending the officers. "So many officers are using creative solutions and strong police work to get dangerous felons off the street and I'm proud to recognize them and to have them as members of this Department."
